Ali Suleiman Aujali
Ambassador, People's Bureau of the Great Socialist
People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya
Washington, D.C.

Following four years of service as the Chargé d'Affaires of the People's Bureau, Ali Aujali was named Ambassador of Libya in January 2009. He also served as the Chargé d'Affairs at the Libyan Embassy in Ottawa, Canada.

Ambassador Aujali has had a long commitment to serving his country, beginning in 1971 as Third Secretary at the Libyan Embassy in London. In 1976, he moved to the Libyan Embassy in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, where he served as First Secretary until he was appointed Ambassador in 1981. In 1984, he was appointed as Libya's Ambassador to Buenos Aires, Argentina, followed by a similar appointment in Brasilia, Brazil from 1988 through 1994. While serving in Canada (2001-2004), Ambassador Aujali founded the Libya/Canada Business Council.

When not on diplomatic assignments outside Libya, Ambassador Aujali held a variety of positions in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Tripoli including Deputy Director General of the Americas Department (1994-1998), Director General of the North and South Americas Department (1998-2000) and Director General of European Affairs (2000-2001).

In his capacity as a representative of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Ambassador Aujali actively participated in a number of United Nations General Assembly sessions, led Libyan delegations to the Forum for Dialogue in the Western Mediterranean (also known as the 5+5 Dialogue), chaired sessions of the Joint Libyan Swedish Committee, and participated in several summits of the Non-Aligned Movement.

Born on October 10, 1944, Ambassador Aujali received his BA in Business Administration from the University of Benghazi.
